

10 things to consider in Pride and Prejudice

Things to consider while studying P and P :

1. The realization that human nature remains the same, no matter how different the customs or the time
2. The importance of the ability to recognize irony
3. The awareness that first impressions need to be reexamined
4. The belief that proper pride in self is necessary
5. The understanding that prejudice can destroy the possibility of healthy relationships and personal growth
6. The ability to define self in identifying values which influence decisions
7. The realization that not money or appearance or marriage guarantees happiness
8. The role of humor in dealing with life's difficulties
9. The influence parents can have on children
10. the realization that maturation involves giving up preconceived ideas and admitting when one is wrong